The World's Eyes Are Open And We Don't Like What We See

Fellow Americans, like you, we are shocked and disillusioned by a single man's power and evil brutality. The sheer immensity of what is happening in Ukraine is more than I would have thought could happen in modern day. The idea that one man can rally millions of people to march into their neighbor's land, even their brothers and sisters land, just doesn't even seem realistic. "Misinformation" is a buzz word here in our homeland, but there it is the "root cause" of the situation unfolding before us on our many screened devices. What we are witnessing, from the Russian people's point of view, is what they believed was saving their brothers and sisters from inhumane treatment - I feel sure that many have been watching the situation from the worlds' view and are certainly questioning the motivation of the march into Ukraine. Imagine how they must feel when they learn the truth!!

From Ukraine's view, people like you and I were just living their lives, going to work, raising their children, and enjoying freedom. We all saw the escalation along the border, but they didn't think it would really happen and now there they are. Their entire lives gone, people are dying, they have lost their homes, their jobs, and everything they ever worked for.

What We Do Everyday Case Stories

Recently, a Veteran experienced a tragedy when his house caught fire. The fire made the home completely unlivable. The veteran was left homeless and in a real panic. Veterans' Outreach was able to secure him temporary housing, clothing, food, and long-term housing assistance and the office worked with other agencies as well to provide for this suffering Veteran.

A VFW representative approached Veterans' Outreach Alabama team regarding a disabled veteran who was in need of a ramp. The cost and construction of the ramp was a daunting task. Veterans' Outreach was able to contribute to the project. The VFW was glad to make the connection and plan to work with Veterans' Outreach in the future to benefit more veterans in need. The VFW representative said, "Veterans' Outreach is doing wonderful work."

combat since at least 600 B.C. K9 military dogs started as front line workers, heading into enemy formations ahead of the human forces to create chaos and tear down the opposition's soldiers. From there, their roles in combat evolved along with technology and warfare tactics. While military dogs had worked alongside humans for years, it was on March 13, 1942, that the U.S. Military officially created the K9 Corps, which trains dogs for military service.
